

Giving our customers our best start with Accredo, a Cigna Healthcare specialty pharmacy.

The right support and faster time to therapy – from the very first fill.

Specialty medications are used to treat rare and complex conditions like cancer, multiple sclerosis and rheumatoid arthritis. Like the conditions, these medications are also complex and require close supervision and adherence to treatment to help achieve the best health outcomes. Many factors can influence adherence to drug therapy including forgetting to take the medication, skipping or taking an incorrect dose, side effects and cost. Ultimately, nonadherence to treatment could lead to hospitalizations, emergency room or doctor visits – resulting in increased medical costs.

Giving our customers the best start with their specialty medications with first fill with Accredo means immediate access to specialized nurses and pharmacists, earlier opportunities for coaching and no disruption on the second fill. This support from the very first fill can help lower costs and improve outcomes – and provide an overall better customer experience.
